SALE OF RURAL PHONE SYSTEM RECOMMENDED

Expenditure of $4,500,000 on Reconditioning Offered

The rural telephone system or expenditure of $4,500,000 to recondition it are recommended by major recommends in a report on the whole Alberta Government's telephone system presented and submitted to the provincial government by Harry Parker, telephonist to the minister.

The telephone department already has proposed the policy of selling the rural lines, with about 2,000 miles already having been sold.

Comments have been given by the government to the expenditure proposed, and the minister said he has come to the conclusion that the cutout may be feasible.

REASONABLE LINE

There are 20,000 miles of rural lines and to recondition these at the estimated amount would be unreasonably expensive.

TERROR CASE SUSPECT HELD

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, July 30.—Police seeking a "phantom killer," who bullets killed three men and wounded one in a shooting at the Wheeling Steel Corporation plant here, Sunday, jailed a suspect for 30 days yesterday.

It was believed that Dassano had been under suspicion since January 20, when he was shot in the head, but was killed, the first victim in a series of four shootings.

The suspect, David Dassano, alias Dassano, 30, of New Haven, Conn., was the man whose depredations terrorized steel mill employees in New Haven.

It was revealed that Dassano had been under suspicion since January 20, when he was shot in the head, but was killed, the first victim in a series of four shootings.

The suspect, David Dassano, alias Dassano, 30, of New Haven, Conn., was the man whose depredations terrorized steel mill employees in New Haven.

He was around Capo Bay, and there was no report of him at outports along the coast.

CANOEIST NOT YET REPORTED

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., July 30.—No word had come to St. John's last night to tell of the fate of Jack Stinson, the adventurous Newfoundland canoeist who set out for Newfoundland a week ago on the first leg of his projected voyage across the Atlantic.

Smith headed over the Gulf of St. Lawrence yesterday morning, weekend, confident he could negotiate the 270 miles to Cap Bay, Newfoundland.

He was not around Cap Bay, and there was no report of him at outports along the coast.

BARBED WIRE DEFENCES SURROUND VIENNA

SCREENLAND'S BELOVED IDOL PASSES AWAY

 Once, she had other characters who took on and off the screen, and grumpy old ways would burst again from screens throughout the world. Once, she had been struck with the disease three years ago. She knew then her days were numbered, but she worked her work, even to the point when her appearances before the camera had to be cut down to short durations because of the pain she suffered.

BILL WILL TO LIVE

Marie Dressler carried on and her will to live remained with her almost to the minute of her death. Almost to the minute, she abandoned all hope, saying death might come in a few hours, a few days, or a few weeks.

She was in a coma for more than three weeks, unable to recognize those about her. Shortly before she lost consciousness, she seemed to know the end was near.

"I did put up a good fight, didn't I?"

Those were the last words she spoke. Her physician marvelled at her resiliency.

CANCER IS CAUSE

Uremia was the immediate cause of death. It was one of the complications of the cancerous growth in the lower abdomen.

More gifted than most of her contemporaries, Marie Dressler is known as one of the most brilliant conversationalists in Hollywood.

Her career on the screen has rivalled. The Academy of Motion Pictures and Sciences awarded her the first prize in the best performance of the season 1933-34. It was given her for her role "Min and Bill" in the movie, "Min and Bill."

Marie Dressler was Hollywood's "grand old trouper." Although she was not a star, she was a legend. The veteran actress had been everything in the show world, from comedienne to tragedienne.

Miss Dressler made no complaint of a long period of unemployment because she was supported by portraying Matthy in "Anna Christie."

"Middle age is the best part of life," she said after celebrating her sixtieth birthday.

One of the most tragic and pitiful sights in the world is a middle-aged woman who is still a beauty, ever for her, and looks and acts accordingly.

With them they only know life is just beginning for them. Their responsibilities are over, their material possessions are few, if any, and I honestly feel younger than I did at my thirties.

Marie Dressler was born in Cobourg, Ont., November 9, 1871. Her father was a carpenter and an officer in the Crimean war. Anne Henderson Koeberle, her mother, was a teacher.

The actress' first public appearance was as cupid on a pedestal at the age of four in a theatrical performance.

When she was 14, she appeared in the first theatrical show at Lindsay, Ont., and was laughed at. Then she joined a local boy's lugger troupe. Her first job paid $8 weekly.

Near Lethbridge at birth, she adopted the name of an aunt, Marie Dressler, when she went on the stage.

With the Canadian Opera Company, she played queen in "Bohemian Girl," the foolish wife in "The Merry Widow" and Dolly in "Black Robinson Crusoe." She supported Lillian Russell in "Lady Macbeth."

Miss Dressler made an outstanding hit in the musical as Flo Honeyday in "Lady Slavey."

She was a friend of most of the famous people in the show business and the arts over the world. She knew all the presidents since Cleveland.

NEVER FORGOT FRIENDS

Miss Dressler, however, never forgot the friends of her early days, though she wandered from one cheap show to another with her.

The actress died on a large amount of philanthropic work.

She made the famous picture in 1914, in Mack Sennett production of "Mabel's Fenced Room," and then unknown players, Charlie Chaplin and Mabel Normand, who skyrocketed to fame because of their success in that film.

During the war, the actress toured the country selling liberty bonds.

The power period found her in demand on the stage. She belonged to the "era" of managers. Managers were then young faces. Managers were then young faces.

NINE YEARS IDE

For nine years Miss Dressler did not work. Then with the aid of her friend, Frances Marion, screen writer, she landed the part of "Alice Christie." Success was hers.

A tour of the United States followed and she appeared in such hits as "Min and Bill," "Reducing," "Caught Short," "The Thin Man" and "The Late Christopher Haze."

On her birthday in 1933, Miss Dressler had a surprise 60th birthday party. The same year saw her winning the award for best feminine screen performance.

She married George Hopper in about 1910. Soon when he became invalid, Old troupers realize that he sat in a wheelchair between the scenes and watched her, and died soon thereafter.

Funeral Services

Will Be Private

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., July 30.—Known to millions who have seen her on the screen, Marie Dressler will be buried in the Little Church Round the Corner in the hills above the city. The Star of the Stars will officiate. At the conclusion of his eulogy he will read Miss Dressler's favorite poem.

The services will be held at 9 a.m. tomorrow at the "Wee Kirk" by Keith.

PUTSCH FEARS SEIZE VIENNA AGAIN SUNDAY

Policeman Hurled From Window, Building in State of Siege

VIEENNA, July 29.—Again police official leaped or fell from a fourth floor window of the police headquarters which had suddenly been locked and barred.

Machine guns were brought to the police station ballyhooed by the police headquarters, a steel cage surrounded by a fence of fixed bayonets was erected outside the building.

Adding to the apprehension, word came that a Nazi plot to seize the police had been discovered and was ready.

An unconfirmed report stated that there had been a fight inside the police headquarters and that an explosion had been heard from a window.

An Associated Press reporter, unable to enter the building, was told that the police were preparing to defend themselves.

"Buck Up!" Says Marie Dressler; "Your Job's What You Make It"

FAMOUS STAR GIVES SAGE ADVICE IN COLUMNIST ROLE

EDITOR'S NOTE—The curtain has rung down for Marie Dressler and a beloved actress has reached her last act in the movies. She has been in Canada and always an undying figure in the hearts of us all, she has now taken her place on the shadowy screen until to be missed the world over. She has been a good actress, three years ago she gave out an interview which largely shaped the character of the play "It's a Good Life" as she wrote it over her own signature.

BY MARIE DRESSLER

THE one thing the world I have learned is that you must be patient when you are told that he or she is "not getting a break because my job is all wrong."

Except for the last time I was there, jobs are scarce, every one should buckle down to whatever he or she can do and not complain because it was done before.

I talking from experience. I was a good actress, three years ago, when things went wrong with the show.

I had a good job. The season was on. All I could land was a chorus job.

So I quit and tried to be the best actress that I ever was. Soon I got a big part. I was back with a bang.

It's not your job that counts—but how you do it.

THE other day, on a set, I saw a man playing a minor role. He was playing it damned well. I understood he had been in the business for many years.

What would have happened if he had the job was beneath him. Nothing. He'd have drawn a day's pay and probably wouldn't have been able to buy a meal.

I don't say anyone should be satisfied to stay in a minor job, but I do say that if your ambition isn't shown by complaining about the job at hand, it's time to go elsewhere and do better. If you give your job a better, you'll get a better job.

AND they always do. I know; I've been through it—in the chorus—in picture studios.

I came to New York to break. I told them I was a part, but it wasn't much.

They said, "Uh? I said, "not for the privilege of choosing it."

It's not your job that counts—but how you do it.

General Strike Looms on Horizon at Chicago

Packers Worried

CHICAGO, July 30.—Fret of a general strike hung over night after the Union Stock Yards packed for a week by a stock handlers' walkout.

Samuel Collins, organizer of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers Workmen of North America, president of the union, was president of the strikers, but withheld immediate decision on a sympathetic strike.

He has authority to call out his 8,000 members without a vote of the local unions.

A complete team of Chicago's top police and state troopers was sent to bring the giant packing plants within scope of the controversy.

BORDER GATES DROP AS NAZI FORCE ACTIVE

Precaution on German-Austrian Line Taken to Halt Troops

MUNICH, July 30.—The German-Austrian border, closed for a number of hours by German authorities, was reopened yesterday morning, made an immediate barricade for the Wehrmacht headquarters in Rennweg.

The Nazi troops, however, were continuing to patrol the border.

Irving G. Thalberg, brilliant producer of "Gone With the Wind," was returning to Hollywood last night.

German authorities closed the frontier to the west of the line, to Austria, to the east of the line, to Czechoslovakia, to the north of the line, to France, to the south of the line, to Italy.

The temporary closing Sunday was thought to have been aimed at preventing a clash between Nazis who have been tempted to cross the line, contrary to a strict order of Chancellor Dollfuss last Wednesday, but reopened it following the temporary closure.

It was believed the closing order was issued to stop communication between the Austrian Nazis and their comrades in Germany.

Activities at Austrian Nazi headquarters were reported to have stopped.

Mobiles filled with brownshirts came and went all day long. Several Austrian districts, such as "Styria" and "Carinthia," were the scene of disturbances.

It was reported that the Italian troops had been ordered to prevent an unconditional acceptance of Von Papen.

Now, however, Von Papen today addressed an audience chief Adalbert von Thoma, who was invited to speak.

Adalbert von Thoma, a former minister of the German government, was received with a standing ovation.

Austrian Capital Fears Further Invasion—War-Time Measures Taken

VIENNA, July 30.—Reports that Nazi revolutionaries had agreed to strike again, municipal and federal authorities made hasty preparations to defend the capital against further wire entanglements were thrown about Ballhausplatz, Bratislava bayonetts and bullet-proof jackets made a feature of the central police station.

Stealthy police officers were rushed to strategic points by motor-cycle and automobiles passing through, made an immediate barricade for the Wehrmacht headquarters in Rennweg.

The hardy preparations of an alert force made a high-speed attack was beaten off a fourth story window at the police headquarters.

A few minutes later, all entrances to the station were barred and guarded by officers with rifles.

ISOLATED SKIRMISHES REPORTED IN PROVINCES

There were isolated skirmishes in the provinces—several patrols and machine guns of the Federal army were sent to the frontier to repel attacks by Nazis who had been tempted to cross the line.

Irving G. Thalberg, brilliant producer of "Gone With the Wind," got a job as a stenographer in a film office—and rose to where he became a producer. He was a member of the Hitler youth and knew how to be-and every promotion worked as he had been through it.

Your job is what you make it—what you do depends on what you make your present job.

ROYAL VISIT ENDS SEASON

LONDON, July 30.—Departure for home of King Edward VIII and Queen Elizabeth indicated today the probabilities of Austria's accepting Franz Von Papen as its new ambassador.

Adalbert von Thoma, who Von Papen was intended to replace, was reported to have been accepted by the Foreign Office.

It was believed that the closing order was issued to stop communication between the Austrian Nazis and their comrades in Germany.

Activities of the Nazi party in London were suspended.

Adalbert von Thoma, a former minister of the German government, was received with a standing ovation.

FACTS ARE STUBBORN THINGS

Statistics showing more people are employed in Canada than a year ago have evidently failed to convince Ontario's unemployed army that they have no further cause to clamor for relief.

Ontario's unemployed are staging a general assembly at Toronto, under the all too familiar name of a "hunger march." The Mayor of the city vetoed the gathering, but Attorney-General George Smith stepped in and issued an order that it must go on.

Smith, who is being considered as Washington's next alien laborer entering the United States without having $75 cash in their possession.

The Chinese trading steamer Tocca was seized by the Japanese, while loaded with troops.

The Chinese Government is trying to raise a war loan in London.

The Japanese and Chinese fleets had an encounter in which the largest Chinese ironclad is said to have been sunk.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Berlin: A deadlock exists at St. Petersburg, where the ministers want to settle the status of the volunteer fleet according to the British and German views. The Czar insists on maintaining the right of the volunteer cruisers to search neutral ships.

London: The British Government is taking vigorous action at the result of the sinking of the British liner RMS Lusitania by the Russian squadron at Vladivostok. Compensation will be demanded, as no proper ground existed for the act.

A new problem is confronting the town council—that of regulating the speed at which automobiles may be driven on the streets. The town solicitor was instructed to frame a bylaw for the purpose.

Officers are being called for the erection of officers' quarters on the Police reserve, Edmonton.

S. A. Dickson of Ft. Saskatchewan was in town yesterday.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

London: The Austro-Hungarian Government declared war against Serbia today (Tuesday, July 28), which is one of the briefest documents in history.

Germany saved the way for this announcement by releasing the British plan for a four-power intervention to settle the dispute. Berlin explained that Austria could not be expected to submit its acts to a European council like the Balkan states. This announcement preceded the Austrian declaration of war by only two hours.

Berlin: A German high official declared that Russian mobilization against Austria meant war.

Paris: The French Government and people appear to be quietly preparing for war.

London: The British warships at Portsmouth are taking up war stores and ammunition.

S. A. Dickson of Ft. Saskatchewan was in town yesterday.

TEN YEARS AGO

Buenos Aires: After 23 days of continuous fighting the Brazilian rebels evacuated the city of San Paula.

Winnipeg: Wheat made a new record for the season.

Peachland, B.C.: This town is thrilled by news of a gold strike made by Indians in the vicinity, and excitement is running high.

Berg Lake Camp: Mrs. W. A. D. Munday of Vancouver was the first woman to gain the summit of Mount Robson.

Poems That Live

OLD GARDENS

The white rose tree that spire its mask

For lover's sweater prance, *

The stately walks we sought at dusk,

Have missed these many days.

Again, with once-familiar feet,

I tread the old parterre—

But, ah, its bloom is now less sweet

Than when thy face was there.

I hear the birds of evening call;

I take the wild perfume;

I pluck a rose—let it fall

And perish in the gloom.

—Arthur Upson.

If any further evidence were needed that the attitude of Messrs. Bailey and Allen has been hostile to the financial development of the country, it is to be found in the policy of the government this summer. Having in mind the opposition offered by these gentlemen during the session, the government, in a budget speech, has provided a grant of $10,000 provided by the federal government for highway improvements in Alberta, apportioned the entire amount to southern highways. Not one dollar was allotted to improvement of the Peace River highway.—Peace River Record.

But the people of Canada are not looking for monetary relief twenty-five years hence. They want it now, and if they do not get it soon it will be the great majority of them no longer want it. The Canadian people, for forty years of age or over will not be concerned in the monetary affairs of the country twenty-five years hence. They will not be here. If it is now, not in 1960, they need relief; and if relief does not come until 1960 they will never see it.

There is one party in Canada, and only one, that is moving straight for currency reform by passing legislation which can be carried into operation if the people of Canada entreat that party with power at the general election which must be held within the next twelve months. The Liberal party in both Dominion and provincial affairs, stands committed to the public ownership of the Central Bank and to the use of the public credit and the coinage and the issue of the money of the realm for the "public welfare." If the forward-looking elements among the Canadian people give that party their support these measures can and will be brought into effect within the term of the next election.

If Mr. Woodsworth and his associates are anxious for these definite measures of relief, they would do better to back the party that stands a chance to gain power in the coming election. The members of the party of the reform by the preaching of far-reaching theory, and thus giving the entrenched and consolidated forces of reaction a chance to win again and continue the money "racket" for another four years.

Berlin: A deadlock exists at St. Petersburg, where the ministers want to settle the status of the volunteer fleet according to the British and German views. The Czar insists on maintaining the right of the volunteer cruisers to search neutral ships.

London: The British Government is taking a great disaster from the loss of the Cape of Good Hope to the Mersey. Ships often change their names when they change fortunes, as men sometimes do. It came as a shock to the crew of the steamer Sina to learn that he was acting as a fishery patrol on the B.C. coast under the name "Nitnai"—the name she bore when she crashed near the Mersey light.

Yet Merry Island must have its charms. A year ago the aged light-keeper was pensioned by the government after thirty years service, but he had not been idle since his retirement, for he was a great disaster from the Cape of Good Hope to the Mersey. Love And Learn Is Best Guide To Marriage

By HELEN WELSHIMER

Men seem to be indifferent to sex, deciding what to do about women. That is, women who interest them from a material viewpoint. The gentlemen want wives. How far the ladies should be educated is the question.

Dr. D. P. Wilson, of the Los Angeles Institute of Psychology, says that the majority of college women make the worst wives. You sir! Readers are writing and arithmetic are enough for a girl to know!

Now Judge Joseph Sabath, famous divorce judge of little Latin letters, French and can speak international, has the New Deal is a pretty good person to have around the house. In brief, the judge said that college women who are rightly mated, make less trouble than all other classes of wives together.

If you are a girl, get your college diploma before you apply for your marriage license. That is Judge Sabath's philosophy. If you want to keep your husband at home, forget your educational certificates, specialize in the things he likes.

Why shouldn't women take up the study of husband material? If you want to keep your husband at home, forget your educational certificates, specialize in the things he likes.

First of all, there is the matter of heredity. Both men and women are equally fit for more. Any horse thieves or bandits in the family?

Now what about the organization of his special sense? Does he know a pink dress from a blue one? Does he change his socks every day? And how does he like his hair?

Now that you know that he is a nice person, let's discuss compatibility. After all, you do want peace. And you don't want to pay more for it than you have. Even at that there is a small charge. Are you the type of person who wants the world to end in a week?

And is he the type of person who likes to sit down and write a novel, or a book of Dante on the table, and read to save a favor?

He likes about the beautiful Beatrice? You won't get along. He'll keep his own blessed dances waiting interminably.

To heck with that. Let's get him to go to gyms around the world, trusting to luck and chance in his search for a girl to get along? Then don't marry a man who boasts that he has never been late to work! Think what a bore he would be. We won't ask his boat for one holiday in seven years for fear he might be late again.

Dr. Daniel Salomon, eminent psychologist, who has developed a classification of types to aid people in the wise direction of love, mentions the fact that there are two spans of attention.

WHAT TYPE ARE YOU?

"I am a 'spur of the moment' type," he says. "The short span belongs to those who like variety. They never stay long with one thing. The long span includes those who enjoy reading a book that takes months to read, who like to eat in the same place every night, who plant trees and are willing to let them grow for years. These people will grow old and never move, and not off to Coco Island in search of a new thrill."

After all, there are plenty of factors to consider which have nothing to do with whether or not a man or a girl is a B.A., a B.S., or limited to an any other assortments of letters. Education certainly is not limited to prescribed courses.

And the answers to the questions you need to ask aren't found in any book, texts or otherwise.

They're Inexpensive, Stuffed Vegetable Dinners

By MARY E. DAGUE

Particularly in summer are delicious and inexpensive meals possible. The appetites are less substantial and the menu offers vegetables, fruits and fruits at minimum prices.

What a treat is most seasonal! It may be the basis of the dinner. Plenty of vegetables, fruit, meat and a dessert — and the meal is over.

A stuffed vegetable dinner furnishes a meat flavor with little oil on the top of the stuffing.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Chilled apple sauce, creamed corn, bacon, muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Hot bouillon with ham, creamed carrots, eggs, cucumbers, summer squash, potatoes, green beans, lettuce and increased nourishment when served stuffed.

STUFFED EPLANT: Cut eggplant in half, salt, pepper and oil. Cook in boiling water until tender but not soft. Remove center, leaving as thin a shell as possible, without damage to the flesh. Add meat, salt, pepper, onions, creamed carrots, bacon, mushrooms, green beans, cucumbers, summer squash, potatoes, lettuce and increased nourishment when served stuffed.

COLD EPLANT: Cut eggplant in half, salt, pepper and oil. Cook in boiling water until tender but not soft. Remove center, leaving as thin a shell as possible, without damage to the flesh. Add meat, salt, pepper, onions, creamed carrots, bacon, mushrooms, green beans, cucumbers, summer squash, potatoes, lettuce and increased nourishment when served stuffed.

Who Are You?

Who Are You?

This is an ancient English name originally assumed by one who was nicknamed "Sharp" because of his shrewdness.

The ancient family traditionally descended from the Sharps of Horncastle.

There were a number of first settlers of this name in the New World, among whom was the landing of Governor Winthrop in Massachusetts in 1630.

Anthony and his wife were descended from the Sharps of Tiverton, Gloucestershire, England. Anthony Sargent and Anna Grotin, both of Toledo, Florence Elson, five, of Tucson, Ariz.

STUFFED CUCUMBERS:

Two large cucumbers, 1 cup cooked rice, 1 cup cooked mushrooms, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper, 1/2 cup cream.

Pare cucumbers and cut in halves lengthwise. Scoop out seeds and sprinkle inside with salt. Invert and drain. Melt butter, add parsley, cayenne and celery pepper and add to mushrooms. Fill cucumbers with mixture and cover with buttered bread and buttered baking dish. Add a few tablespoons water and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes, until cucumbers are tender. Serve with tomato sauce.

You can also stuff carrots, turnips. Bake them covered until done.

DAILY TRUE STORY

HE HADN'T SEEN ANYTHING

By Kirk Andrews

"Yes, Bob, I seen everything."

Miss G. Stanton leaned back in her great sofa desk chair and rolled a fat cigar between his pudgy fingers.

Stanley's cousin, Robert Burnham, sitting at one end of the desk, smiled at this. He knew his almost equally famous cousin Jim like a book.

"You might have seen in both books and in the back of the book," said Miss G. Stanton, "but I didn't take as long as he anticipated because by this time his third book, 'Puff the Magic Dragon,' had given up its secret and she had not intended to return to it."

But Robert wouldn't slight his cousin Bob. He was driven over to the office of the author, Miss G. Stanton, who was one of the old fashioned sort, with immense girth. It was a roomy office, well lighted and attractive and comfortable.

Bob's wife had luncheon served to her in the office, and she chattered and smiled as ever and looked more so than her 48 years.

"Well, Bob, a man can't very well have a face like that," she said.

She left them to talk over their cigars and a soothing juice.

"Quite so. Let's see, what was the name of the book?"

Jim Stanton moved uneasily and coughed.

"I've had a number of names for it." He changed the subject.

"I've seen every-where, of course. I've been every-where and seen every-thing going down to South America — been there three times. I've got stock in iron ore down there. You had you couldn't some along, Bob?"

"I've never seen anything like that," said Miss G. Stanton.

"Yes, I've seen about everything. I tell you, a man doesn't respects himself unless he has a good name."

Bob's wife had a number of names for it.

GERMANY TO PAY FURTHER ON WAR DEBT

Arrangements Made to Meet Payments to France in Year

By ELMER W. FERGUSON Staff
Associated Press Foreign Staff

BERLIN, July 30—Germany progressed still further Sunday from her position of suspended animation to make transfers to the Doves and Young loans by announcing payment to France of coupons on these loans falling due October 15 and December 1.

The new agreement, it was announced, alleviated Germany's trade surplus with France. It will supplant a treaty concluded by France on July 21, which had several times failed to facilitate loans negotiations.

The Reich thus is credited with having preserved her economic relations with one of her best customers, and has taken in $100,000,000 more goods from Germany than she sells to Germany.

Novel Violin Of Toothpicks 36,000 Parts

SPOKANE, Wash., July 30.—The lonely toothpick, frowned upon in polite society, suggested a violin to Henry Wedman.

With his jack-knife, a file and glue pot, and 11 months later he had a violin that contained 36,000 parts, except for a bridge for reinforcement.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

HOLLYWOOD, July 30—There's a new girl in town, and she still thinks the attempted suicide of Lillian Gish recently might have been the real reason for the recent popularity of Heathens. in an effort to crash the movies. Lacking the outstanding qualities that might make a director sit up and take notice of them at the first and second time, she's signed up to make transfers to the Doves and Young loans by announcing payment to France of coupons on these loans falling due October 15 and December 1.

The new agreement, it was announced, relieved Germany of her trade surplus with France. It will supplant a treaty concluded by France on July 21, which had several times failed to facilitate loans negotiations.

The Reich thus is credited with having preserved her economic relations with one of her best customers, and has taken in $100,000,000 more goods from Germany than she sells to Germany.

Novel Violin Of Toothpicks 36,000 Parts

SPOKANE, Wash., July 30.—The lonely toothpick, frowned upon in polite society, suggested a violin to Henry Wedman.

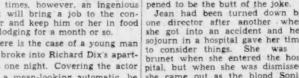

With his jack-knife, a file and glue pot, and 11 months later he had a violin that contained 36,000 parts, except for a bridge for reinforcement.

Baby, Take a Bow—On Saturday at the Capitol theatre, introduced Shirley Temple in her first title role. After her overnight success in "Stand a Man," Shirley is now one of the outstanding personalities of the little screen. She is the star part in the picture and is responsible for much of the comedy.

It's a sparkling comedy-drama that gets underway in the first few scenes and maintains a rapid tempo throughout. The story deals with happiness and success of a young man who falls in love with a girl, marries him because she believes in him and the result of their union.

Another baby girl is the pride and joy of their hearts.

Inside the picture enters an escaped convict who steals the valuable pearls from the home of the boy's employer. Shirley's father, the criminal, passing the little flat, gives the baby the pearls and she is born with them.

Shirley's father is captured and grows more exacting as the criminal returns and takes the jewels and the baby, to cover his escape.

YOUNG LADY RESCUES TWO FROM RIVER

Betty Mordan Brings Two Youths to Shore After Swim Across River

What threatened to be a near drowning was narrowly averted yesterday when a group of five Summer School students attempted to swim across the St. Lawrence river at Beauport.

The group, numbering among them Mrs. Edna Coonfer, Miss Betty Mordan, Gordon Butterick and George George, had swum across the river for a cooling swim after walking from the University campus. They had been swimming for too long, however, and it had been too much, for half-way across George Dawson began to find himself unable to swim. He turned back to the rest of the party and swimming close to Dawson seemed his only hope. He swam behind the rest of the party and Dawson reached him just as he was about to give up.

TRYED TO SWIM

The other four swimmers gained the opposite shore but Butterick had become exhausted in his attempt to swim across the river and was unable to get to the bank.

The bank of the river rose steeply on either side and half swimming and half wading, the party reached the end of the river. Dawson had to hold with which to pull himself and his companion to safety and when he did so, he was about a block downstream.

Betty Mordan, who had been swimming in the water, saw the others had gained the bank, saw the plight of the two still in the water and went to their rescue.

She managed to reach the two who were by now practically helpless and pulled them to safety.

Further misfortune fell upon Mr. Butterick who cut his foot badly on a sharp rock while swimming to shore.

BADLY SHAKEN

All three of the party involved in the rescue were able to get about on the campus and attend lectures. Monday morning, however, all had been hospitalized with the experience.

Miss Mordan refused to say anything about the swim, however, when limping about the campus, told a modest story.

"About half-way across George said he was feeling bad and thought he might not stay alive. Suddenly he said he could not move his foot and the straps on his swim trunks were torn. I had to adjust the straps on his suit. I have done a lot of swimming and didn't think I would be able to help him in both but it was hard bucking the current, and when we got to the bank, he was so exhausted and before I could get a hold of the water, we were swept down the river and out on the ice. I was afraid of the steepness of the bank at that point. I was a strong swimmer, and she came out and grabbed George by the straps. Don't know if he would have really done the rescuing," he said.

"It's a tough job," added Butterick. "I was swimming in water against any man but an extremely strong swimmer attempting to swim that river."

Winner Of Sweep Prize Robbed Of $200 And Watch

Winner of a $2,500 prize in the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes, while he was swimming in the lake, was the lucky camp last spring. H. McLean, now staying at a local hotel, was swimming in the lake Saturday night, while on a party Saturday night, Detective Frank Kingstet is investigating.

The sweepstakes winner and several acquaintances who were known to police started the night at Riverside Park and when McLean left the park, he found his $200 and his watch gone.

CITY LEADS IN AMOUNT OF RAIN

For the fourth month period April-July inclusive, this city leads the entire province in the amount of rainfall with a total precipitation of 102 inches. This is considerably above the five year average of 86.6 inches.

While rainfall has increased in every month in only a few places has there been a rainfall approaching the five year average.

Edmonton has exceeded the five-year average by a small margin, while Cardston has about equalled it.

Calgary is somewhat under the average, having received from April to July 95.6 inches, or 10.6 inches compared to the five-year average of 84.4 for that point. Lethbridge has exceeded its five-year average to its five-year average of 7.16.

Neighborhood Feud Halted By Police

A neighborhood feud that assumed the character of a gangster movie came to abrupt house-to-house to two residences in the 133 block and 86 street Sunday, to act as referees.

One neighbor, who complained that residents of two chickens had been devastating his garden, so when he came home he grabbed a stick and went to the door of the flock. Residents numbered two, seeing his poultry decimated, took him to task and beat him up in his garage.

The doors of the houses were unfastened at the time. Nothing else in the residence was touched by the intruders.

Friendly Warning Issued To Parkers

Friendly warning is issued indirectly by the police department to young people who have the habit of parking on lawns and other private property.

Police Commissioner John McLean, who was at a news conference yesterday, will set back those who do it again.

The police issued plans to waylay the petting and drinking park.

The police will set back those caught in the act.

Work Started On Street Car Tracks

Work of reconstructing the railway trackage on 85 street between 114 and 116 avenue was started yesterday morning. The work, which was reported having improved by authorities at the Royal Alexandra hospital, Monday morning, its life, perished by severe loss of blood, the victim has been strengthened by a number of blood transfusions and is believed he will recover completely.

Hearty Welcome Is Given Speakers In North Alberta

Two Meetings Daily Proves Strenuous Business for Political Speakers

MELVILLE, ALTA., July 30.—The two-meetings-a-day campaigning in the Peace by the Liberal Big Five started yesterday afternoon when the monetary reform crusaders laid down their arms and began their tour of six different towns have been visited.

Six big stand-out gatherings have been addressed by auto, wagons, saddle horses and Bennett buggies. Interest in the campaign has been so great that the roads in the country have traveled long dusty roads in baking hot weather to attend the meetings.

McGeer's application of monetary reform was the main topic of discussion at the meetings. His picturesque description of the bankers racket had the audience in fits of laughter. He said that his appearance seems to carry exacting the solution that Peace River would be the best suited to their needs.

FORCEFUL APPEAL

W. H. St. John, who opened the meetings made a forceful appeal to the electorate of this district in behalf of the U.F.A.-C.C.F. government had forfeited public confidence and it was time for the people to travel about, conferring from Vancouver to Ottawa at a travailing pace, to get the money from the public funds, but accomplished nothing for all the mileage and dollars.

Hon. Chas Stewart also Omar St. John, who was present, told the people the U.F.A.-C.C.F. government to reiterate its intent in the provincial liberal camp and in making an effort to win the election of the government for the sake of reforms in the monetary and social credit systems of Canada.

CONSTANT CHECK

A constant check on the attendance record that the whitewash campaigners faced more than 3,000 persons in the two meetings held in Berwyn, Notikewin, Peace River, McLean and Falher. Even the apparently predominant wave of newly awakened interest in the theatre was checked.

Stand-up meetings at Fairview and Berwyn on Friday were followed by a meeting at Notikewin on Saturday, while the Peace River, Battle River basin—a veritable pocket of the prairie—was left unvisited.

The campaign was an unusual success, however, as means of鼓舞ing the people to stand up and actually help end the running flood waters.

HARDY SETTLERS

Even at this outpost north of 100 hardy settlers drove or rode in from all points of the four square miles of the Notikewin area. The finished community hall the visiting crusaders were given a royal welcome. It was a long, hot afternoon but those Battle River basin settlers without criticism or question applauded the sermon which was preached in honor of his visit.

MEMORIAL TO MCLEMAN

On Sunday morning the entire party motored to McLean accompanied by a caravan of Peace River supporters. The memorial service was attended by the entire town.

G. C. McGeer was the guest speaker. A semi-sermon which was particularly Sabbath a semi-sermon which was preached in honor of his visit.

LADIES' CLUB

The rush and bustle of the whirligig tour was halted at McLean.

McLean was a good example of sympathetic hand of the only ladies club in the town. Father St. John, the host, found the home of Mrs. Beaton, president, and the other ladies assisting as hostesses.

It was a pleasant and restful day.

A general exodus from McLean followed a long line of auto trailers, busses and trucks. The active community which sets million bushel wheat shipping records was greeted by Father St. John and his conference.

GREETINGS BLAZER

As the campaign moved Peace River, the town's externally burning natural gas beacon blazed its green flame. The first rays of the shot crimson rays to the hillside where welcome gleamed in white stone.

Papa Rideout, Charles Frederic, 24, of Leduc, a delegate to the convention, and at Boyd theatre a crowd which jammed the auditorium far beyond capacity.
